Mr. Charles Corkran
Chief of Archives Division
Lyndon Baines Johnson Library
Austin, Texas 78905

Dear Mr. Corkran:

The following two persons of the International Division, General Accounting Office are herewith authorized access to CIA-originated documents held by the Johnson Library to the degree that such access is required for the performance of their official duties with the International Division, General Accounting Office:

STAT

This authorization is for a period of six months and is contingent upon these individuals having the requisite clearances for such materials.

In view of the widely varying sensitivity of documents contained in the Presidential Libraries, we prefer to entertain requests for copies of individual documents in them on a case-by-case basis. It is understood that all materials examined will be handled in accordance with their present classification unless and until properly declassified and cleared for publication.

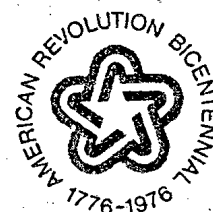

Sincerely,

BS

Mr. Louis Hunter
Associate Director
International Division
U.S. General Accounting Office
Washington, DC 20548

Dear Mr. Hunter:

Dr. Reed has forwarded to us your request for access to material in the Kennedy Library bearing on U.S.-ROK agreements and commitments. We have about five archives boxes (2.0 linear shelf feet) of pertinent material that will be of interest to your researchers and should take them about a day to absorb. I will be happy to assist you or members of your staff when you call at the Library. In my absence, MS. Megan Floyd Desnoyers will be available to help. Please give us some advance notice so that we can schedule staff time to your maximum advantage. A phone call a day or two in advance will do.

In preparation for your visit it is necessary for you to furnish us with a certification of a TOP SECRET clearance for each person who will be visiting the library. If you anticipate that access will be required for special and technical intelligence material or for atomic energy data, then you should supply certification for those special clearances also. (A brief review of the files does not suggest the need for such special clearances beyond the TOP SECRET level.)

In addition, it is necessary for you to obtain letters authorizing access from each of the departments and agencies whose original classified material is in our files. This authorization should include a provision authorizing photocopying or electrostatic copying if that is expected to be necessary. At a minimum, I suggest that you obtain such letters of authorization for access and copying from: the National Security Council; the Department of State; the Agency for for International Development; the Department of Defense; and the Central Intelligence Agency. These letters of authorization should be in our hands before your researchers arrive so that there will be no delay in making the material available.

Please give me a call if there are any questions about this procedure.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM W. MOSS
Senior Archivist for National Security
And Foreign Affairs
